Mardan Palace is located in the Kundu Holiday Centre in the Antalya/Kundu region, one of Turkey's and the world's leading holiday destinations. The hotel is among the world's distinguished luxury brands. It is approximately 20 minutes from Antalya International Airport and 15 minutes from the city centre, and is one of the most luxurious hotels in its class.
Its interior and exterior architecture reflects the splendour of a palace. Art-adorned décor, rooms with different concepts, meeting and gala halls, unique SPA areas, and a palace atmosphere and service by the sea are among Mardan Palace's most distinctive features.

ARCHITECTURE

Mardan Palace embraces the globally renowned city of Istanbul through three different architectural designs.

MAIDEN'S TOWER

Maiden's Tower was first built in 408 BC by the Athenian general Alcibiades to monitor the movements and passage of Persian ships in the Bosphorus. In AD 1110, Byzantine Emperor Alexios Komnenos rebuilt the tower as a fortress. It was renovated many times during the Ottoman Empire, with notable changes in 1509 and 1763. The latest restoration in 1998 gave the tower its present appearance.

GALATA BRIDGE

Galata Bridge is one of the oldest known bridges recorded as having been built across Istanbul's Golden Horn. It was constructed in the 6th century during the reign of Emperor Justinian the Great. Sultan Bayezid II asked Leonardo da Vinci to design an unprecedented bridge across the Golden Horn, 240 m long and 24 m high. If built, it would have been the world's longest bridge. The Sultan did not approve the design. Later, Michelangelo was invited to Istanbul to design a bridge, but he declined the invitation; the idea of a historic bridge across the Golden Horn was postponed until the 19th century.

The Anatolian Building of Mardan Palace visually reflects the features of the famous historic Kuleli Military High School. The historic building was constructed in 1845. Over the years, it served various civilian purposes, including as a hospital, orphanage and school. After the Second World War, in 1947, the military school returned to Istanbul and continued operating in its historic home.

DOLMABAHÇE PALACE

The palace was commissioned by Sultan Abdülmecid and built by court architect Karabet Balyan between 1843 and 1856, blending the rich artistic features of European architecture. Ottoman sultans owned many palaces over the centuries, but Topkapı Palace remained the official residence until Dolmabahçe Palace was completed.
The magnificent Dolmabahçe Lobby at Mardan Palace covers 2,800 m², including a terrace with spectacular views. Decorated with traditional motifs from Ottoman palace craftsmanship and featuring a 21-m-high glass ceiling that evokes the sky, it creates an authentic palace atmosphere.

CONCEPT DESCRIPTION

We are pleased to present the PALACE ALL INCLUSIVE concept, carefully developed for MARDAN PALACE in line with traditional Turkish hospitality and the years of experience of Swandor Hotels & Resorts.
